

Are you interested in changing the life of a youth? Check out our mentorship program!

The Values-in-Action (VIA) Workforce Training program prepares workforce-oriented 11th and 12th grade students in the soft skills needed for employment through proven character and values development techniques, community mentorship, and job placement opportunities.

Goals of VIA Workforce Training:

- Develop ethical and passionate teens with workforce readiness, soft skills, and attributes of character that are indicators of future success
- Provide underserved students access to job placement services, career exploration, and assessment tools keeping them on track toward achieving their vocational goals

How it works

1

Each new mentor participates in a brief, 30-minute mentoring orientation (virtual meeting) with a workforce advisor ahead of the first scheduled class with students.

2

Each mentor will be assigned 2-5 students.

3

The mentor meets with the students for a 45-minute session three times throughout the 12-16-week training session. This can be virtual if needed.
